Gmail: Compose at a glance

Gmail's Compose is where your thoughts turn into words and your words turn into emails. To keep your mind uncluttered as you compose a new message or reply to a conversation, we've hidden the formatting and attachment options away until you need them.

A look at the menus...

Some tips and tricks ...

Entering contacts

Click in the To field to add or edit the email addresses in your message. Click To, Cc, or Bcc to open a menu for selecting contacts.

Reply options menu

If you're replying to a conversation, click the drop menu on the left side of the To field to change your reply options, pop out the message into its own window, or edit the subject of your message.

Keyboard shortcuts

 $\begin{aligned} \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{b} &= \texttt{Bold} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{i} &= \texttt{Italics} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{u} &= \texttt{Underline} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{k} &= \texttt{Insert link} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{[} &= \texttt{Indent less} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{]} &= \texttt{Indent more} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{Shift} + \textbf{7} &= \texttt{Numbered list} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{Shift} + \textbf{8} &= \texttt{Bulleted list} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{Shift} + \textbf{9} &= \texttt{Insert quoted text} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{Shift} + \textbf{1} &= \texttt{Align left} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{Shift} + \textbf{t} &= \texttt{Align center} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{Shift} + \textbf{r} &= \texttt{Align right} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{Shift} + \textbf{r} &= \texttt{Align right} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{Shift} + \textbf{t} &= \texttt{Add cc recipient} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{Shift} + \textbf{b} &= \texttt{Add cc recipient} \\ \textbf{Ctrl} + \textbf{Shift} + \textbf{f} &= \texttt{Access custom from} \end{aligned}$